In August 2014 Dr Trevor Barnes will lead a dental team of volunteers from the UK and New Zealand to Leh, a Buddhist enclave within India on the borders of Nepal and China. The team of dentists, dental therapists, and nurses will attempt to have an impact on the tidal wave of dental disease that has swamped the region.

We will be based in Leh and also travel up the highest navigable track in the world to the Nubra Valley where access to dental treatment is zero. Many children and adults will have waited the entire winter in pain to receive treatment.

We are asking for financial support to make this expedition as successful and far reaching as possible. In our 2012 expedition we treated upwards of 2000 children.

Any money you are able to give will be spent on dental materials, equipment and transportation costs. There are virtually no administrative costs, the money will enable the dental care to directly reach the children most in need.

Thank you for your support and thank you for any donation however large or small that you are able to make.
